

Greetings for the Year of the Iron Rabbit, from Gebchak Gonpa

The Gebchak nuns sound their winter greetings!

Left & below: maintaining a respectful distance, spectators watch the Chu-Rey ceremony. Taking photos of the actual ceremony is strictly prohibited.

Winter sunset over Gebchak Nunnery.

Spectators visiting the Nunnery.

One of the two orphan groups living in Yushu.

Nuns enjoying the new three-year retreat centre.

Above: the existing main temple where the nuns gather to perform 20 *drubchens a year. Currently, the structure is at risk of collapsing. This year the construction for a new temple will begin!

Drubchens* are intensive prayer ceremonies lasting about ten days each.

Lunchtime!

Orphans living in a nomad encampment for the winter. On the left is Wangdrak Rinpoche.

Left: the Nunnery bursar sorts through food supplies purchased with the kind support of people like you.

Thank you!